Becky—

What's the status of this mine? Have you closed the file? Is there cleanup work that needs to be done? I haven't been there since 2008, and there was still some equipment needing to be removed at that time.

Paul,

I was out there late last summer...early fall, there are several old wooden pallets with travertine on them and some unreclaimed surface disturbance. Other than that, there is nothing going on and nothing else out there. There is no bond and Deloy Shumway died last fall. I was going to see if I could get our recreation crew to roll the travertine off of the pallets and haul the pallets off. I was going to close the file.

Thanks. We'll do the same.
